HOLLY HILL WILL NOT RECEDE.

Citizens Object to Allowing Any of Their Territory Being Given to Kingston.

The residents of Holly Hill strongly object to letting Kingston, in her proposed incorporating scheme, acquire any of her territory.

About a year ago this question was brought up before the council of Holly Hill, and the opposition was so strong that the petition was tabled. The main objection seems to have been that the Mason & Carse tract would be split by the line being placed as proposed. Then, the north end threatened to cut loose if Holly Hill allowed the south end to be gobbled up.

Holly Hill seems to be in a flourishing condition and, considering the small population, her streets are kept in a condition which many towns of the same size cannot boast. Maps of the town have recently been issued, drawn by the surveyor, which will be found invaluable to prospective purchasers of property.

Several good ordinances have been enacted, and lately one requiring the carrying of a bell and lantern on bicycles.

The streets have lately been receiving much needed attention. Daytona avenue has been opened up twenty feet wide through the entire tract. Ridgewood avenue has been opened up to Washington avenue and as soon as the bridge upon which work has started, across the canal is completed, will be marled and put in fine condition.

All these improvements have been accomplished virtually since incorporation, and, better still, the truckers and residents are now protected from the ravages of hogs, which previously ran at will in that section.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist Church will hold a bazaar and supper at the Armory Friday afternoon and evening Feb. 24th. A special feature of the bazaar will be a booth at which fine home made candies will be sold.

Stetson University.

Every friend of the John B. Stetson University and especially the people of DeLand, will receive the news of Mr. Stetson being once more at the head of the board of trustees of the institution with unbounded pleasure, for it assures his hearty cooperation and support of an institution that he loves as a child. The vote on the presidency was, Mr. Stetson 13; ex-Governor Jennings 6.

The meeting was harmonious throughout, there was no evidence of any past trouble, and all members present manifested a strong disposition to assist Dr. Hulley and his able faculty in the grand and successful work they have and are doing. The board heartily congratulated Dr. Hulley for the work he is doing and the great year the institution is having under his administration, is decidedly the most successful in its history.

Statue to Francis E. Willard.

The snow-white marble statue of Miss Francis E. Willard, conspicuous as the only statue of a woman among a score or more of images of noted men, was unveiled in Statuary Hall of the capitol Friday with exercises of a highly interesting and impressive character. The statue is a gift from the State of Illinois and its formal acceptance was made the occasion for a loving tribute from the women of the entire country to the memory of the great temperance leader.

The statue, which is of Carrara marble, is the work of Miss Helen Farnsworth Mears, of Wisconsin. It represents the famous temperance leader standing in modern dress by a reading desk as though about to address an audience. In her left hand are a few leaves of manuscript, and her right arm rests easily on the desk.

Col. and Mrs. Conrad Stuenkel will leave tomorrow for a week's visit at Havana, Cuba. They will join Mr. J. E. Conway, at Miami and proceed from there in company with that gentleman.

Poem for Today

THE HUNTER OF THE PRAIRIES

By William Cullen Bryant

ANOTHER consideration regarding Bryant is that, representing a modern development of poetry under American inspiration, he was also a descendant of the early Massachusetts colonists, being connected with the purified strong religious feeling of that ancestry, which was united in him with a deep and sensitive love of nature. This led him to reflect in his poems the strength and beauty of American landscape, vividly as it had never before been mirrored, and the blending of serious thought and innate piety with the sentiment for nature so refreshingly a new and impressive result. George Parsons Lathrop in American Library of the World's Best Literature.

Y, this is freedom!—these pure skies
Were never stained with villages smoke.
The fragrant wind, that through them flies,
Is breathed from wastes by plough
and harrow.
Here, with my rifle and my steed,
And her who left the world for me,
I plant me, where the red deer feed
In the green desert; and am free.
For here the fair savanna know
No barriers in the bloomy grass,
Wherever breeze of heaven may blow,
Or beam of heaven may glance, I pass.
In pastures, measureless as air,
The bison is my noble game.
The bounding elk, whose antlers tear
The branches, falls before my aim.
Mine are the river-ford that reem-erge
From the long stripe of waving sedge.
The bear, that marks my weapon's
scathe,
Hides vainly in the forest's edge,
In vain the shrew-off slinks at bay.
The indolent catamount, that lies
High in the boughs to watch his prey,
Even in the act of springing, dies.
With what free growths the elm and plane
Fling their huge arms across my way.
Gray, old, and crumbled with a rind
Of vines, no longer, and out, and gray?

Free stray the head streams, and nod
No more in these fresh leaves and glades.
Free speak the flowers that scent the wind.
Where never yet the has swept the
glades.
Along the firs, when frost winds sweep
The heavy harborage of the ground,
Gather the autumn harvest here,
With tearing like the battle's sound,
And hurrying dunes that sweep the plain.
And smoke-streams rushing up the sky,
I meet the flames with flames again,
And at my door they cover and die.
Here, from dim woods, the aged past
Speaks solemnly; and I behold
The boundless future in the vast
And lonely river, seaward rolled.
Who feeds its founts with rain and dew?
Who moves, back, its gliding mass,
And trails the bordering vines, whose leaves
Bright clusters tempt me as I pass?
Broad are these streams, my aged eyes
Plunge, and bears me through the maze.
Wide are these woods I tread the moor.
Of giant steps, nor ask a guide,
I hunt old days' last glances o'er
The rocky vale and green heights,
And find the voice and glad the eyes
That welcome my return at night.

Big Crowds Anticipated

Louis Schmidt, a winter visitor here at present, owns and runs one of the best restaurants in Washington, D. C. In his place of business he can seat two hundred guests and besides he has several dining rooms for private parties. Speaking of his trip and of the inauguration Mr. Schmidt said:

"The railroads in all parts of the country are offering low rates to the inauguration. We expect 100,000 visitors at least. It is going to be a big time. We ought to have waited until after the inauguration to come south but the people north told us that the season would be over and that there would be no one here so late."

A Prominent Family Party

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Fuller accompanied by their son-in-law, F. S. Rudlong, Mrs. Rudlong, A. H. and C. W. Fuller of Providence, R. I., returned yesterday from Palm Beach and are again located at The Ridgewood.

A. H. Fuller, who is a prominent banker of Providence, entered his motor boat in the races at Palm Beach and had the good fortune to capture one of the trophies.

Postoffice Force Enlarged

The latest addition to the postoffice force is Frank Huyler, who assumed the position of clerk at the money order and registry window yesterday. Mr. Jolley found it necessary to withdraw Mr. Curtis from that position for the present in order that he might devote his time chiefly to the forwarding of the large amount of mail matter. Mr. Curtis will also superintend the general delivery business which, owing to the lack of lock boxes, has become greater than the old force could handle.

A large crowd attended the naval battle between the Japs and the Russians at Ormond yesterday afternoon. After the battle one of the showmen gave an exhibit of walking on the water.

FLORIDA IS A GREAT SURPRISE

To a Party of Prominent Clevelandites Who Spent a Few Days in Daytona.

Wm. H. Caniff, president of the Nickel Plate railroad, and Mr. Cady, a large manufacturer of shoes, were the guests of Dr. Terrill aboard the launch "Meg" yesterday. Dr. Terrill carried his friends on a fishing trip to the inlet and to show them Florida water scenery.

Mr. Caniff, in an interview with a Daytona News reporter, said:

"This is the first trip any of our party have made to Florida, nor have we been to California. This is a great country you have. I was surprised, yes, dumfounded. I had no idea that the state was so large and that tropical fruits were raised in such quantities. It seems to me that the people of the east coast owe much to Henry M. Flagler for having opened up this country and made such conditions as exist possible. You have a beautiful town here, the prettiest little town I ever saw, and your streets and roadways are excellent."

Mr. Caniff seemed much interested in the East Coast inland water route, and in fact everything pertaining to Florida.

The party aboard the private car, Mr. and Mrs. Caniff, Mr. and Mrs. Cady, of Cleveland, left this afternoon for Miami and Palm Beach, after an extended tour of the interior they expect to visit New Orleans and Mexico.

While in Daytona the party met several of their old friends and made many acquaintances who were delighted to meet these pleasant ladies and gentlemen.

Andrew Gordon left yesterday for a few days' trip at Eustis.

Geo. F. Lafferty, a prominent citizen of Port Orange, is registered at The Despland.

J. C. Vertrees, of the firm of Vertrees & Co., wholesale feed dealers in Palatka, is registered at The Despland.

Eugene Gilbert Blackford, an authority on two continents for everything pertaining to the fishing industry, has just died in Brooklyn.

President Roosevelt has presented to the National museum as a souvenir several articles composing an outfit of the Guachos of the South American plains.

John F. Boyd and wife have given to the city of San Rafael one of the beauty spots around San Francisco bay, finely laid out grounds of twenty acres, with a large and handsome building, in memory of their dead relatives.

Just before he left the pension office Commissioner Ware was asked for a recommendation by a watchman. This is what Ware wrote: "Dear Jackson—If you are not in heaven when I get there, I'll fix it to have you transferred."

Lawrence Jones, a Jewell county (Kan.) man, recently saw a nail sticking up through a board. Remarking that some one might get hurt on it, he gave it a kick to bend or break it. Instead, however, it went through his shoe and gave him blood poisoning, from which he recently died, a victim to his thoughtfulness for other people.

The master tailors of Paris are bending their intellects to the task of devising a suitable uniform for the president of France.

Sawdust is now used by some Paris restaurants, the Gaulois says, as a dressing for cutlets instead of bread crumbs. It costs only 30 cents a sack.

Near Pontefract, France, lives a banker who has a museum of old doors. They are from old houses, castles or abbeys that have some historic interest. They include the door through which, during the French revolution, Marie Antoinette, Charlotte Corday and Danton went out to execution.

How to Succeed.

Believe in yourself, believe in humanity, believe in the success of your undertakings. Fear nothing and no one. Love your work. Work, hope, trust. Keep in touch with today. Teach yourself to be practical and up to date and sensible. You cannot fail.

DAYTONA is situated upon the west bank of the Halifax River at its widest expanse and midway between its source at Bunnell Bay and its outlet at Mosquito Lake. It is in latitude 29° 50' north and one mile from the Atlantic ocean, and is acknowledged to be without a rival for beauty along the shores of the South. Its site is upon what is known as high hammock land that was covered by water with a most rapid growth of majestic forest trees, and among these trees is the tall and to-day, white, beautiful, slender and well-proportioned palm tree. The result is that the land is covered by the densest of tropical palms, the pine and the cypress, and the growth of these trees is so rapid that the forest is still growing in places where the water once stood. The result is that the land is covered by the densest of tropical palms, the pine and the cypress, and the growth of these trees is so rapid that the forest is still growing in places where the water once stood.

The town lies parallel with the Halifax River and extends for nearly two miles along the shore. The river is the delight of the angler and the fisherman and forms one of the town's greatest attractions.

The main avenues that run parallel with or intersect the river are all 100 feet wide, except Beach street, which is about sixty feet, but has a half mile of open, beautiful water running upon its eastern side, where the sand waves ebb and flow and along the shore, which comes the cooling breeze and the healthful sun.

Wheelman's Paradise and added to these, but a mile away, are thirty miles of smooth, hard beach, that affords an unrivaled course for long distance cycling and driving of automobiles. No town of equal size, North or South, numbers so many wheelmen, and cycling is a favorite pastime with the tourists summer and winter.

The Beautiful Cottages that have been erected during the past years and are being built are rendering Daytona as famous for its fine homes as for its beautiful river, trees and avenues, and they are adding greatly to its attractions.

Not the least of these attractions to those securing homes in the South, and ranking second only to healthfulness and perfection of climate, is the fact that its population is chiefly composed of cultivated and intelligent people, accustomed to the refinements of home and social life. Added to these features are good churches, good public and private schools, stores, hotels, laundry, meat markets, novelty works, an opera house, electric lights for street and house illumination, a good telephone system, ice factory, hot water works, and hot and cold baths, etc., and everything else can be procured that is necessary to make life comfortable. An important feature in the healthfulness of this town is the

Water Supply

which is derived from numerous flowing wells, of which there are probably 200 in the corporate limits. This flow is secured by boring wells to the depth of from 80 to 120 feet, passing through several strata of rock, and this depth assures purity from all surface contamination. The water is strictly impregnated with magnesia and iron, and holds sulphur in the shape of gas, which soon passes away.

The Population of Daytona proper is about 1,500. Added to this is a suburban population on main shore and peninsula of about 1,000 at Kingston, Blake, Old Seabreeze or Goodall, Seabreeze and Silver Beach, which are properly a part of the town and population.

Daytona Beach

lies one mile east of the town. It is approached by three good bridges over the river and well-graded avenues, and is the principal summer resort south of St. Augustine. It has more tourists during the summer than all other places south of that city combined, and is also becoming a favorite winter resort. The beach is wide, firm and smooth, by many considered the finest in the world, and the surf bathing is safe and excellent summer and winter. People who have tried Northern and Western summer resorts declare that there are none so perfect in comfort as Daytona beach.

Automobile Race Meet.

The Florida East Coast Automobile Association conducts an annual race meet on the beach, which has now a universal reputation as the greatest automobile race course in the world. The Daytona Grand Prix is held on the beach, and an ideal stretch of thirty or more miles without a sharp curve, at the natural beach ground for attention.

At low tide the beach is bare for 300 feet and neither carriage wheel, cycle or pedestrian can make a mark on the sand. It is so common sight to see submerged bicycles speeding with the velocity of the wind before a stiff breeze along the smooth beach, thus affording the most exhilarating sport known to man. Besides the miles of hard-shelled, polished sand, the beach is a playground for the wheel and the vehicle into direct beach with the mainland over the road bridges which span the splendid Halifax River.

The beach from the sandy bluffs to the lowest point at middle, measures about 500 feet, and the average depth of the surf measures about two feet. A continuous gentle swell rolls in from the ocean from one to two feet in depth under normal conditions, making the beach an attractive and absolutely safe place for sunbathing. Here the infant as well as the gray-haired veteran of many summers, can safely enjoy the luxury of a sea bath throughout the larger part of the year. While the strong and expert swimmer, can venture out further to test his strength and skill in battling with the inexhaustible powers of the mighty ocean.

The Peninsula

lying between river and ocean is one half mile wide, and is being rapidly improved, and there are many fine cottages and several good hotels, an opera house, two ocean piers, beach pavilion and a large casino.

A Remarkable Feature

at Daytona has been the yearly improvement in the style and value of the buildings that are being erected for homes. Men of capital of the North and West have become awakened to its advantages for winter residences, and valuable lots are being purchased and costly homes, beautiful in design and finish, are being erected, and beautiful homes, the abodes of wealth and culture are multiplying.

Seabreeze (City Beautiful) and Goodall are settlements on the ocean side of the peninsula across the Halifax River from Daytona. At the foot of Ocean Boulevard, Seabreeze, a pier reaches 600 feet across the beach into the swelling surf of the ocean. This pier is a favorite resort of those who delight in the sport of fishing. The surf here abounds in trout, pompano, yellowtail, cavalle, whiting, drum, sheepshead and many other varieties of edible fish. During the fall season the famous sea bass affords royal sport, and it has been no uncommon occurrence to land a thousand pounds of this gamey fish in an afternoon. Individuals of them ranging from fifteen to thirty-five pounds in weight. Not only does the ocean offer this splendid sport but the Halifax River, only half a mile back of the ocean, is equally famous for its fine fishing, and the varieties that abound in the ocean are present in the river.

Hunting and fishing good. Experienced guides and dogs may be had at reasonable prices.
